232	Magnificent museum worthy English Sterling Silver George II cast rim hand made pierced rococco style cake basket, made by William Kidney of London, hallmarked 1744, with full original coat of arms to the centre. This magnificent example an early George II period cake basket is noteworthy for its very fine condition, particularly the lack of any repairs of wear in such an early example of English silver, most of which found today are repaired and do not have the fine patina (original colour) of this basket. The basket is raised by hammering a flat piece of sheet silver, hand piercing the sides, and fitting cast feet and rims to produce this item, 100 years before the industrial revolution and mass production of silver.
